

RUGBY PLAYED AT SCHOOL

Two rugby football teams have been formed at the local school campus and in the first few games have developed rapidly under the coaching of Doug. Alfred. The teams have been named, Mid-Air Tacklers and Shooting Stars. The first game played a week or so ago resulted in a draw, while the game played on Wednesday resulted in a win for the Shooting Stars, 5-0. This last game was a challenge affair and The Advocate understands that the losers have to stake the winners to a big "feed". Several pairs of pants have been torn and many shirts ripped beyond repair in the games but the boys can "take it" and like the game just introduced to the campus this season.

PILOTS VISIT BLAIRMORE

Pilots Joe Irwin and Phil Lucas of Vulcan, accompanied by Chas. ## OBITUARY

Mrs. J. M. Woods
Funeral services for the late Mrs. J. M. Woods who died Sunday morning were held at the United church Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Woods, who had attained the age of 52 years, was born in North Dakota and with her parents moved to Alberta in the early homestead days.

Track Meet Trophy Won By Vulcan Contestants

Held at Champion, Aldersyde Branch Trac Meet Proves Successful and Closely Contested Event

After having been postponed twice, the Aldersyde branch Trac Meet was held in Champion on Saturday, October 27th. The day turned out to be a fine one for the occasion, and with the many entries and keen competition the event proved a successful one. Contestants were present from Nobleford, Barons, Champion and Vulcan. The Vulcan schools are to be congratulated on the fine showing made in athletics, they gaining the highest number of points in the event, were awarded the large silver trophy. The different events were so closely contested that Champion was only two points behind the locals.

The official total scores were:

|           | Boys | Girls | Totals |
|-----------|------|-------|--------|
| Vulcan    | 38   | 35    | 73     |
| Champion  | 52   | 19    | 71     |
| Nobleford | 33   | 10    | 43     |
| Barons    | 9    | 32    | 41     |

Nobleford and Barons lagged behind the north town entrants by fully thirty points. From Vulcan the girls nearly gained as many points as the boys, while the Barons girls fairly swamped the boys when it came to making the points. Three points were awarded for first place, two points for second place and one point for third place in the different events. Both the boys and girls competitions were divided into three groups, 13 years and under, 14 and 15 years, and 16 years or over. The different competitions of the day were 100 yards dash, high jump, running broad jump, shot putt, hop-step and jump, pole vault, and 220 yards dash. A collective event was the relay race. The Vulcan boys won the relay race in their class.

Generous support will no doubt be given the poppy sale, as in past years.

SOCIAL EVENING SUCCESSFUL

Over fifty young people attended the first social evening of the Anglican Young People's Association held on Monday evening, November 5, and the event was a decided success. Held in the church hall, the social was enjoyed by all the young folk who were present. The next meeting of the group will be held on Monday evening. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

SPECIAL MEETING SCHOOL BOARD

On Monday of last week a special meeting of the school board of Vulcan School district, No. 1902, was held at the municipal office. No regular meeting of the board was held during the month of October, due to the absence of the chairman, E. G. McPherson, thus all routine business was taken care of at this meeting. The regular meeting for November will be held on the 12th. All were present at the meeting on Monday. It was decided to increase the janitor's salary $15.00 per month, due to the fact that two extra rooms are to be looked after this winter. There are 10 rooms to heat and care for in the three school buildings. It was decided to try a load of Galt coal on a test to see if it proved as cheap or cheaper than the local mine coal, if so it was decided that a carload would be placed in the schools. A number of accounts were passed for payment. The meeting adjourned.

The egg was laid on November 1st.

A splendid program has been arranged by the committee in charge of the affair.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY

A number of young men of town agreeably surprised Jack Anderson on the occasion of his 21st birthday on Tuesday evening, November 6. They gathered at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Anderson, and presented him with a sterling silver signet ring. Norman Lockhart made the presentation and voiced the good wishes of the party, and the one honored made a suitable reply. The evening was spent at card playing and a sing song. Making up the party were G. M. Discher, Earl Robson, Allan Marshall, Albert Collier, Harold Woodward, Walter Ottewill, Robert Munro, and Norman Lockhart. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Anderson.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE

A dangerous practice is that of the farmers letting their stock—horses and cattle straying from pasture to graze along the main gravelled highway and the intermediate dirt roads of the district. In the past few years no small number of automobile accidents have occurred from this source. After sundown the stock suddenly loom up on the roadway and they are very difficult to see until the vehicle is practically upon them. Several reports of near accidents from this menace have recently been heard by The Advocate, and this season it is said that the number of animals straying on the roadways are much greater than ever before. Stockowners should co-operate with the motorist by seeing that none of their livestock are allowed to feed in the roadways.

GETS APPOINTMENT

Arrangements were made for the sale of Remembrance day poppies, and Mrs. Marshall was appointed convenor in charge of the sales. Mrs. E. King was appointed representative to attend the meetings of the Vulcan Central Relief Board.

Roll call was answered by a description of Our Native Country. Many interesting answers were given. Mrs. King kindly donated a quilt top, and offered her home to the members to quilt the same on Thursday, November 8th.

WEDDING BELLS

Short—Birt

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Knox United Church, Calgary, on Tuesday, November 6, at the hour of 3:30 p.m., when Helen May, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Birt, of Rockyford, was united in marriage with Mr. Charles Morely Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Short, of Vulcan. Rev. Calloway officiated. Miss Gwen Short, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid and Mr. Bruce McKay, of Vulcan, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Short will make their home in Vulcan.

A FREAK PARTRIDGE

An Albino (white) Partridge was shot by "Chuck" Naylor, son of Constable and Mrs. Naylor of Vulcan, while out hunting for the elusive partridge with a party of local hunters on Thursday of last week. The bird shot was practically pure white with the exception of a few faint touches of brown on the tips of the wings. It was bagged seven miles south west of town. White partridge of this type are very rare and are considered freaks by sportsmen, according to press reports noticed this season, and very few have been found in Alberta. The bird has been sent to Mr. Gould of High River, who will mount it for display. Chuck can consider himself mighty lucky in bagging such a freak, and will no doubt be mighty proud of the trophy when it is mounted.

- It is equally as ridiculous for anyone to expect efficient, safe refrigeration from a box suspended outside a window with foods facing the elements, freezing and thawing, as temperatures rise and fall rapidly.
- With an ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR you can be positive of food safety over a period of several days, enabling you to buy in quantity when special prices prevail without fear of spoilage and possible danger to health.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

At a Remembrance Day service held in a past year, L. W. Brockington of Calgary, addressed these words to those gathered before the soldiers' cenotaph. The sentiments are worthy of repetition:

"In this hallowed place we honor in memory the glory of immortal youth and the beauty of sacrifice.

"Of women, who, in the words of the noblest of all war memorials, the National Scottish Memorial at Edinburgh, 'in the stress of war, sought by their labors, sympathy and prayers to obtain for their country the blessings of peace.'

"Of men who loved life and sunshine, youth and laughter, gave all that they loved best—for such is sacrifice, lest those that loved them should pay the price.

"May I enshrine your remembrance in the still youthful language of the orator of old:

"Each one, man by man, has won imperishable praise, each gained a glorious grave. Not that sepulchre on earth in which they lie, but the living tomb of everlasting remembrance wherein their glory is enshrined. Remembrance that will live on the lips, that will blossom in the deeds of their countrymen the world over. For the whole earth is the sepulchre of heroes. Monuments may rise and tablets be set up to them in their own land, but on far off shores there is an abiding memorial that no pen, no chisel has traced; it is graven, not on stone or on brass, but on the living heart of humanity."

"This shall be our memory. What is our hope

"We can hear already the still sad music of humanity swelling into one hymn of praise. Time, which has dimmed our grief, has brightened the hope that springs from their glory. Shall we not in memory of these men and women who dedicated themselves to the cause of love and understanding amongst the nations of mankind strive to maintain the principles for which they died and by which we live—and, above all, to carry 'Ever in our right hands gentle peace to silence envious tongues?'

"By doing so we shall not break faith with them that died."

NATURAL RESOURCES

It is not surprising that the oil companies are protesting the increased levy on production, neither is it surprising that the provincial government has seized upon this possible source of revenue. When the natural resources were transferred to the Province the regulations of the Dominion provided that on January 1, 1935, the royalty on naphtha production would be increased from 5 to 10 per cent.

Those who are developing the oil industry in the province, maintain that the burden of payments will be ruinous to some companies and a burden to all. The cost of bringing in a well is great, and the actual production gives no indication of the vast expenditure that has been made in unprofitable wells and in exploration. It is argued also that the royalty does not fall with equal severity, on all alike, and that on lands leased from private individuals the royalties exceed 10 per cent.

In the announcement, it was not stated whether or not, a part of the royalty would be turned over to the owner of surface rights on whose land production has been obtained. This is a matter of great importance to the surface owner, and is one of the aims of the Protective Association organized last spring. If the government insists on the 10 per cent royalty, there seems no reason why 1 per cent, at least should not be turned back to the owner of the land. Such a move would reconcile a proportion of the population at any rate, to the increased levy.

So far as the individual in the province is concerned one wonders what benefits have accrued from Provincial ownership of Natural Resources. The possession of the natural resources brought great dreams of increased wealth, but these do not seem to have been realized. The fact that the provincial deficit is perhaps less than it otherwise would have been is somewhat uninspiring. There has been no release from usual taxations. The gas tax is no lighter, the motor licenses are no lower. It might even be suggested that the merest fraction of the royalty collected from Turner Valley production, might have provided the field with a southern outlet in the way of an all weather road (by way of High River if possible). It is difficult to locate any visible benefit to the people from possession of the Natural Resources.

Although the Province is within its inherited rights in instituting the additional tax on an infant industry, it would be most unfortunate if such action would call a halt in oil development.

WISE BORROWING

A man who is well informed on money trends in Canada remarked recently "I think that 'easy money' is on its way, and very soon it will be much easier to borrow. But when that time comes, it is to be hoped that the borrower will have learned a lesson from these hard times. It is to be hoped that he will safeguard himself against worry, by being sure of at least three different sources from which he can pay back that money."

This seems a suggestion well worth carrying in mind, if and when easy money does return. If too liberal use is made of credit, it may be a pitfall and a snare. Everyone knows that, at the moment, but is it a lesson that has sunk in.

If hard times have taught any lesson, it is not to trust good times too far, nor to depend on any one source of income for repayment of debt. But people as a whole have wonderful forgetteries.

It is certain that the needs of the individual have never been greater than at present. For almost five years, every line of equipment and supplies have been depleted, without any adequate replenishing. The capacity for spending is almost unlimited. And instead of resigning itself passively to doing without, the public appetite is merely whetted for an orgy of spending as soon as it is possible to get anything to spend.

It is for this reason that the warning regarding "wise borrowing" is very timely. It is a lesson that almost everyone needs to learn.

THE B. N. A. ACT

The text of the B.N.A. Act is so overwhelmingly nationalistic and so little provincialistic—outside of the spheres of religion and education—that it is a constant source of wonderment to us that the courts have interpreted it in so provincialistic a way as they have. They could not have done so—for even the Judicial Committee of the House of Lords is somewhat amenable to Canadian opinion—if the people of Canada from 1890 on had not been vastly less nationalistically minded than the Fathers of 1867. The war did something twenty years ago, the depression is doing something today, to break down the spirit of provincialism, to provoke a demand—of which Sir Henry Drayton is a useful voice—for effective economic action by the one power in Canada which, through its control of customs, currency, banking and large-scale transportation, is able to perform such action. A courageous, capable and diplomatic Dominion Government might within twelve months of today give reality to some of the highest and wisest aspirations of the Fathers, aspirations which up to now have been completely unfulfilled, and might do so in a way which the Provinces would not seek to combat and which the courts would not dare to overrule.

It is not, as Sir Henry Drayton seems sometimes to suggest, a mere matter of reducing the cost of government; that is one of the most insignificant of the gains to be secured. It is a matter of releasing the productive and distributing enterprise of Canadians from the risks and hampering limitations imposed by nine separate petty sovereignties, from chaos of unrestricted competition in lawlessness of standards and laxity of inspection, from the provincialism of legislators who look upon the products and workers of another Province as if they came from another land or another star. And it is a matter of making Canadians conscious of their nationhood.—Toronto Saturday Night.

MARKETING ACT

British Columbia Beef Cattle Growers have been engaged for some time in seeking to adapt the Natural Products Marketing Act to their needs. They have received reports from Alberta and Saskatchewan organizations, and apparently all are convinced that a scheme for any one province would be of little benefit to the producers as a whole.

As the Minister of Agriculture for B.C. has pointed out, if the producers of that province tied themselves up to certain regulated forms of marketing, their scheme would be doomed unless producers or dealers from other provinces were under a similar code. It would be of little avail for the producers of one line in any one province to attempt orderly marketing, if neighboring provinces, bound by no such rule, could dump freely. A unanimity of principle amongst Western provinces at least appears to be a prime essential.

Another phase discussed by the B.C. cattle growers was the question of voting power to enter the scheme. No specific provision seems to have been made for taking a poll. A substantial majority of producers would have to vote favorably, before it could be made operative. The question of voting power was also raised, whether each producer would be allowed one vote, or whether the voting power would be in proportion to the amount of stock owned.

Before the Marketing Act can be operative either in the Cattle Industry or any similar primary industry, each Province will have to arrive at some definite basis. And there must be a general uniformity in all regulations in order to bring success to the National Marketing Act. It would be inadvisable, if not impossible, to move hastily, and it may be some time yet before the foundation machinery is in place, and the beneficial results hoped for are realized.

HOW TO LOSE MARKETS

"Not long ago Germany bought cotton from Brazil, and paid for it by selling coal to Brazil; Russia sold cotton to Europe and bought machinery from Europe. Japan contracted to purchase 1,500,000 bales of cotton a year from India, and India contracted to buy 400,000,000 square yards of cotton cloth from Japan. Russia, finding that the capitalist countries will buy cotton against the sale of commodities Russia needs, is encouraging cotton production. Manchuria, for the first time has become an exporter of raw cotton. Egypt has removed all restrictions and control from cotton so that the cotton produced in that country may pass into consumers' hands as rapidly as possible."

Every word of this warning can be adapted to Canada and her problem of finding markets for her grain. We have been losing these markets for years and we shall continue to lose them until we face up to the necessity of doing two things: meeting the competitive price of wheat of other nations in markets where we have to compete on even terms; and taking payment for our wheat exports in the products of other countries, even though this may include manufactured products which will enter into competition with our native manufactures.

These are hard sayings to the wheat grower or the handler of wheat who thinks we have the consuming public of the world by the neck and can make it take our product on our own terms; and to the Canadian manufacturer who believes that the home market should be his at whatever price is necessary to make things comfortable and easy for himself.

Nevertheless these are truths; and if we reject them because we find them disagreeable to contemplate we shall encounter something much more disagreeable a little further along the road.—Winnipeg Free Press.

New York Post: An object-lesson in the way wars are brewed is provided by the protests of the American, British and Dutch governments to Tokio over Manchukuo's intention to set up a state oil monopoly. Manchukuo, Japanese puppet thought it may be, has the same right as any other state to set up a government monopoly if it cares to do so. If it does, British-Dutch Shell interests and American Standard Oil interests stand to lose some money. From such acorns oft grow the oaks of wars to end war and make the world safe for democracy. Behind the "open door" in the present dispute is the open cash register.

NAT RESOURCES IN ALBERTA

Total coal production for the eight months ending August 31st this year was 2,574,536 tons, compared with 2,497,166 tons for the same period last year.

The eight-month production of petroleum for this year was 852,228 bbls. compared with 632,454 bbls. in the eight-month period of 1933.

Timber products for the 1933-34 fiscal year showed an improved condition over that for the 1932-33 year; the lumber production being 55,208,052 board feet compared with 52,736,467 board feet in the previous year. Other lines of timber products showed similar increases.

Around McMurray in the northern part of Alberta, there are enormous beds of bituminous sands, which have only waited for the discovery of a simple process for the separating of the hydrocarbons from the sands to become the basis of one of the largest oil fields in the world. For many years much engineering skill and money have been spent in an endeavor to perfect a simple, efficient process, and just recently Mr. Max Ball of Denver and his associate Mr. McClave, have, after many years of effort, evolved what appears to be such a process. There has been set up in Toronto a pilot plant for the separation of the sands, and within the next two or three weeks there will be joined with it a new type of refining plant, designed by the Smith Engineering Company of Los Angeles. Those who have seen the preliminary tests on the separation unit pronounce it to be a complete success, and there is every reason to hope that the combination plant will be the solution of the problem of the development of this vast natural oil and asphalt resource. The solution will mean complete independence of the British Empire for oil.

OVERSEAS GRAVES FINELY CARED FOR

Recent Visitor to Soldiers' Burial Grounds of Europe Re-assured and Greatly Impressed

To all those whose relatives were buried overseas during the Great War one who has visited those vast cemeteries is always eagerly welcomed. Mrs. M. Johnstone of Vancouver, who spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Johnson of Cayley brings happy and most reassuring words of comfort. She is on the last lap of her return journey from a tour of Britain, France and Belgium. She was deeply impressed with the splendid work done by the Grave Commission of Belgium and the facilities provided for relatives to locate the graves of those fallen soldiers in whom they are particularly concerned. Courtesy and regard for all those making the sad pilgrimage prevail, at all times, and to visit these graves brings inexpressible comfort. They are beautifully cared for, and the profusion of flowers always in evidence is a wonderful sight.

She spoke also of the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres, which has been erected to perpetuate the memory of all those Allied soldiers known to have been killed, but whose last resting place was not located. The memorial is in the form of two gates, one for entrance and the other for exit. Between the gates are great pillars on which are inscribed the names of all those soldiers of the Allied armies who fell in battle but whose graves are not otherwise marked. Each evening at sundown two buglers sound the Last Post before this gate, and this ceremony is likely to be perpetuated on through the years.

OIL FIRMS BENEFIT ROYALITE CASH

Royalite Dividends Since 1924 Have Amounted to $3,163,890

Treasuries of several independent companies, who sold their limestone rights in Turner Valley to the Royalite Company in exchange for Royalite stock will benefit by the Royalite dividend of 75 cents a share payable on November 23. Among these companies are McLeod, Okalta, Alberta Pacific Consolidated, Calmont and New McDougall-Segur.

The Royalite Dividend, the second paid in 1934, will involve a distribution of approximately $500,000. The last dividend paid in May 1934, was 50 cents a share on 627,749 Royalite shares. The present number of Royalite shares outstanding is 661,348.

Since Royalite No. 4, the first naphtha producer, was drilled to completion in the limestone in 1924, Royalite has paid $3,163,890 in dividends (including the dividend payable next month).

Royalite earnings are reported to be in excess of 1933.

ANOTHER GOOD CATTLE DEAL?

B. F. Graham, well known rancher from Cluny, Alberta, sent three cows weighing 3640 pounds and a young bull weighing 1000 pounds to Calgary to be sold. After deducting ten dollars for transportation, Mr. Graham netted thirty four dollars for his 4640 pounds of beef. He claims it is better to raise jack rabbits, than beef at three quarters of a cent a pound. Mr. Graham states that the sooner some system is brought in that will guarantee the farmer a just price for his goods, the better for all concerned. "Every farmer in Alberta," he says, "should support and vote for Social Credit."

GRAIN STEALING DRAWS TWO YEARS

William Yuel of Nanton appeared before P.G. Thomas, P.M., on Wednesday afternoon, charged with theft of 850 bushels of wheat. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years imprisonment less one day. This was by no means the maximum for this offence. The charge was laid by Chas. Gardiner of Cayley, with whom the defendant had agreed to deliver to the complainant or his solicitor, 850 bushels of wheat. Yuel failed to deliver, but otherwise disposed of the grain, thereby committing theft amounting approximately to $425. Constable Cook, R.C.M.P. prosecuted, and the case was tried in High River coming within the Calgary division.

ON RETURNS FROM CAL STOCK SALE

The recent Calgary stock sale was on the whole satisfactory to stockmen. The average price for rams was lower than last year but more animals were sold.

While the average price figured at $16.44 compared with $18.56 at last year's sale, 58 more animals were disposed of this year, and total receipts amounted to $5,950.50. Last year total returns were $5,643.

Hampshire rams topped the sale in numbers and high average price of $18.49, with $50 the top individual bid. It was put in by L. L. Brickenbridge, Idaho, for the animal catalogued No.

466, and contributed by the Prince of Wales ranch. Top for Shropshires was $38, and for Southdowns $32. Oxfords averaged $9.05, with an $18 top, while Cheviots commanded $16.44, average with $25 the high individual price.

Grade breeding ewes and swine were in good demand here throughout. Cattle sales were a trifle lower as to value and volume in comparison to a year ago.

A western young lady recently advertised for a husband and got him. The total expense of the advertisement and wedding outfit was $11 and within a year the husband died, leaving a life insurance of $3,500. Advertising always pays.—Glencoe Transcript.

Prem. Bennett Accepts Stevens' Resignation As Cabinet Minister

Prime Minister Bennett has accepted the resignation of Hon. H. H. Stevens as Minister of Trade and Commerce. Mr. Stevens is no longer chairman of the committee on the Price Spread inquiry, but is a member of the commission. He is still a representative of the Conservative party.

In accepting Mr. Stevens' resignation, Mr. Bennett referred to the pamphlet released this summer in which Mr. Stevens reviewed the evidence as submitted to date in the Price Spread inquiry. The Prime Minister said that it was fundamentally unsound that the Chairman of a commission should publicly discuss the committee's proceedings before evidence has been completed. He said: "It is impossible to justify the publication and circulation of untrue statements by a minister of the Crown which are calculated to have the effect of destroying the reputation or property of any citizen of the country."

Mr. Bennett also stated: "It is one thing for a private individual to express his opinion with respect to the value or lack of value of property owned by others; but when a minister of the crown with all the authority and power of his position, makes statements which are at variance with the facts and which are not supported by the evidence taken by the committee of which he was chairman, it is calculated to be most injurious to those concerned, and, as the minister is presumed to be speaking for the government, such action places upon the administration grave and serious responsibility."

"In dealing with questions of governmental policy, a Minister of the Crown should take care that his public pronouncements represent the views of the government of which he is a member."

"Apart from the responsibility that rests upon members of the government to which I have alluded, the question of ethics is undoubtedly involved and, as much has been said about business ethics, I cannot but think it is the duty of any member of a government who is responsible for the publication and circulation of a pamphlet containing inaccurate statements, to take the earliest opportunity to correct or withdraw such statements, with an appropriate expression of regret."

Concluding Mr. Bennett says, "May I avail myself of this opportunity to pay a tribute to your industry and zeal as a minister. It is a matter of regret to me that you have chosen to resign rather than take the course that my colleagues and myself suggested, which would have strengthened public confidence in the commission maintained the principles of British justice and fair play, promoted the speedy and efficient conclusion of the work of the commission and secured for its final conclusions and report an authority that would not lightly be questioned."

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) R. B. BENNETT
Mr. Stevens' Letter

In presenting his letter of resignation Mr. Stevens first resigned as a member of the cabinet, and then tendered his resignation as chairman of the commission.

"In view of the attitude you took yesterday that the Royal Commission on price spreads and mass buying is a creation of the government and that its chairman ought to be at all times in complete harmony with the views of the government, I also tender my resignation as chairman of that commission thus leaving you free to appoint a chairman whom you consider to be in harmony with the views of you and your government."

In reference to the inaccurate statements, "As I understand your

EDITOR MORALIZES

A Minnesota editor moralizes thusly: "If we could all switch businesses all the way around for just one week, we'd be a lot more sympathetic of the other fellow's problem and know a lot more than we do at present about the cause of his shortcomings and of his apparent failures. Let the banker sell prunes, the grocer pull teeth, the dentist run a garage, the garage man edit the paper, the editor run the bank—for just six little work days and we'd all have our eyes so wide open to what the others are up against that we would never have the courage to criticize, nor would we be unsympathetic again. Then if the whole caboodle of us were to move on various farms and operate them for another six days per each, we'd all be so wise and understanding that the peace and harmony prevailing would make this little old community just about the best place in the world to live. It can't be done, of course, but we could take the thought to ourselves that we don't know anything about the other man's job and concede that for all we know he is handling it in good shape."

SOME OF THE WORDS THAT MEAN A CROWD

Do you know how many words in this good old English language of ours mean crowds? Well, here are a few of them:

A crowd of ships is termed a fleet; a fleet of sheep is called a flock; a flock of girls is called a bevy; a bevy of wolves is called a pack; a pack of thieves is called a gang; a gang of angels is termed a host; a host of porpoises is termed a shoal; a shoal of buffalo is termed a herd; a herd of children is called a troop; a troop of stars is called a galaxy; a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde; a horde of rubbish is termed a heap; a heap of oxen is called a drove; a drove of hoodlums is termed a mob; a mob of whales is termed a school; a school of worshippers is called a congregation; a congregation of engineers is termed a corps; a corps of robbers is called a band; a band of bees is termed a swarm, and a swarm of people is called a crowd.

present position based largely upon representations made to you by Mr. Burton of the Simpson Company, it is almost an exact parallel of the position you took on the representations of the T. Eaton Company in regard to my speech in Toronto in January 15 last."

Mr. Stevens' previous letter of resignation dated Jan. 19, was attached to the one of Oct. 27 which was accepted. In his Jan. 17 letter, he presents a picture of the "unfair and unethical practices prevailing," as a justification for the first famous speech made by him in Toronto on Jan. 15. And states "You will undoubtedly, recall, sir, that on several occasions I have briefly indicated above, and while I fully recognize that there is a question of divided jurisdiction, and in my speech in Toronto I clearly stated this, nevertheless I am convinced that so acute is the suffering of both the workers and the employers in several branches of industry because of these malpractices, that in my opinion the federal parliament must take cognizance of it, and deal with it in some effective way."

"In conclusion let me say that I fully appreciate the heavy burdens that you have had to bear as prime minister of this country during the past three and a half years, but you will allow me to say most clearly that I fear you have permitted certain problems of a more or less international or general character to so obsess your mind and your attention that it has made it impossible for you to appreciate some of these pressing Canadian problems, which, while difficult of solution, are quite within the power of parliament."

BIG JOB PREPARING FED VOTERS LISTS

Enumerators, Registrars, Printing,
Etc., Will Run the Preparation of First
List to About $2,000,000

All over Canada the work of prepar ing a new and permanent voter's list for the Dominion has been in progress.
40,000 enumerators have been employ ed. The remuneration is 5 cts. a name to rural enumerators and 7 cts. a name in the cities. Two enumerators are supposed to work together in the city, bringing the cost to 14 cts. a name.
An allowance of $10 is made in rural areas for the three afternoons, for correcting the lists, but no such allow ance is made in the cities. Printing of lists and reprinting is expected to cost about $1,000,000. The total expense of preparing the first list under the act is expected to be about $2,000,000. An other $500,000 will be added annually for salaries of permanent registrars in each electoral district. Details in connection with compilation of the new voter's list makes it seem unlikely that there will be any election before next July.

A PERSON'S LIFE

"A person's life is not made up of one thing. We can't work, play, sleep or eat all the time. It's the proper bal ance of these things. That make life worth living. The housewife who "knows nothing but work" or the man who keeps his nose continually to the grindstone are grown-up replicas of the girls and boys who are also vic tims of the obsession that one partic ular thing is worthy of all their inter ests."

It is a tragedy whenever people of all ages get the wrong slant on life.
Unfortunately, this is all too common.
It may not always show itself in throwing themselves in front of a train, but it shows itself nevertheless.
Practically every person in our insane asylums—and the number is constant ly increasing—has some pet obsession.
Harbored in their minds, it grew in fertilizer soil until they became unbal anced. They were no longer able to see life rationally. A great many young people are similarly afflicted, and the tragedy is that this incipient disease will grow and grow until they are wrecked, either mentally, morally or physically.

To give children the proper slant on life is one of the most important du ties placed upon their parents and their teachers.—Hanover Post.
